Nathan Levanger D.O. is board-certified with the National Board of Osteopathic Medical Examiners. He specializes in family medicine. Dr. Levanger is available to help patients at Driggs Health Clinic. He also serves as a hospitalist at Teton Valley Hospital.

Dr. Levanger completed his B.S. Degree in Psychology at Brigham Young University. He earned his Doctorate in Osteopathy from Western University of Health Sciences in Pomona, California.

Here's a quick perspective on the differences and similarities between a Doctor of Osteopathy and a Doctor of Medicine: Similar to an M.D., a D.O. uses the same medical tools, treatments and technologies. D.O.s also must complete four years of medical education and 3 - 7 years in a residency program. D.O.s receive additional training in the musculoskeletal system to aid them in their "whole person" approach to healthcare. D.O.s may also perform osteopathic manipulations, similar to chiropractic doctors.

Outside interests include bicycling, woodworking, skiing, sailing and spending time with family.

To make an appointment with Dr. Levanger, please call Driggs Health Clinic at 354-2302.
